FARMERS IN ROANOKE.

Our representative farmers met in goodly numbers in the "magic" city of the mountains last week, and remained in session for three days.

The communion of kindred spirits was not only pleasant, but the interchange of opinion on practical subjects of every day moment was of great and genuine service.

The president of the Norfolk & Western delivered one of the most interesting, as well as instructive addresses of the occasion, and this was a pleasant feature of the important gathering, as just now the railroads of the country are under hot fire. Presidens Johnson evidently impressed those sturdy men of toil that he was in no sense their enemy, but on the contrary a friend to co-operate in all measures that tend to promote the highest good of all the people. There should no be conflict between the "man who hauls what "the man behind the hoe" makes. All cannot farm, nor can all engage in the transportation business, but there should be no clash between the different class of workers. May this be the best year for all workers in Virginia and may the Roanoke reunions be repeated with the coming and going years. Farmers with the rest of us have their faces towards the sunrise.

If none of the railroad companies are making money why not sell out to the Government and be done with it?

Mr. Cleveland should insist upon it that that "lost photograph" should be kept from the public. It shows age and care, and not a feature of the Cleveland the Democrats so delighted to honor.

Thaw says "call me anything but a fool." He made a fool of himself in the misuse of money his mother was foolish enough to deal out to him, but in the recent past the young man has given no evidence of weakness.

We are ambitious to mark the Jamestown era by adding 1000 names to the list of subscribers to the TIMES. Send in your name and your dollar and start a movement which means much for Southside Virginia.

A farmer asked this question of us, and we pass it on to the next man. "The State taxes my dog and by that act converts the animal into property, and then comes along and kills him without making any returns for the property thus violently taken from me. Is this Constitutional?"

Bryan "is willing"—of course he is. Now let the Democrats "quit their foolishness and get together." They can win, but will they? We have our doubts. And not that the G. O. P. can beat them but that the "better-than-those" Democrats (?) can.

Mr. and Mrs. Astor have reached America, the good land out of which their riches came, and yet they announce they are only here for a "short stay." It was good enough for their ancestors who traded in furs and ought to be good enough for the lady who, in the winter time travels in furs. With all of her newly acquired wealth she can't buy her way into the presence of England's queen, and "hence these tears." Mordecai should have been happy but there was that Haman in the gate. "None righteous, no not one," and none happy.

Buckingham Boy on Virginia.

P. H. Elcan, superintendent of the Hartlett-Fraser elevator, which ships more grain over the Kankakee division of the Chicago, Indiana & Southern than any other along the line, has returned from a two weeks' visit to his former home, Sheppards, Va., whither he accompanied his wife and two children, who remain there for a more extended visit. Mr. Elcan reports that the famous old state's air of aristocracy and indolence fast is being replaced by an up-to-date manner and up-to-date methods are being introduced. Soon "old" Virginia will be a thing of the past, and a new Virginia with a silver dollar rampant upon a field of cotton as its emblem will arise.—Kankakee Daily Republican.

Wert.

The district School Board met last Saturday evening at Chestnut Grove church to confer as to the advisability of consolidating several schools in their, (Francisco) district. We learn they decided to unite the Forbes and Chestnut Grove schools and to erect a new school building on the Stage road at the most accessible point to the children who attended each school. We believe the board acted wisely in uniting these schools for neither one made an average, and we are strongly of the opinion that one good school is better than two small schools. Non attendance does more to prevent our educational system from being a success in the rural districts than any other one cause. The State may erect the most modern and up-to-date school buildings, and furnish the best teachers that the country can afford, and let the children stay at home, (as a majority of them do) and education will not advance very rapidly. We trust that the people will realize the necessity of regular attendance and that this school will be one of the best in the county.

The entertainment at Concord Baptist church on July 4th was a grand success. About $55 was cleared for the church. All present seemed to enjoy it and were especially delighted with the magic lantern show and lecture by Rev. T. H. Athey, of Lynchburg. Mr. Athey is the popular pastor of College Hill Baptist church, and his lecture, "A trip around the world" with views to illustrate, was entertaining as well as instructive. A large crowd was present and a bountiful supper had been prepared. Ice cream had been prepared also and it is needless to say it was a good seller on the "hot fourth."

We are sorry to state that Miss Rhoda Morris is ill with typhoid fever.

Mr. Charles H. Morris, of Bedford will spend some time with relatives here, where he hopes to recuperate his health. Mr. Morris has been with the Western Union Telegraph Company for some time past, travelling in many states, which somewhat impaired his health.

Many of our people are attending the Holiness meeting, but there is less interest taken in these meetings than formerly.

Hubard.

We are sorry to chronicle the illness of Mr. G. E. Bolton and Mr. J. D. Jones; hope they will soon be out again.

Mr. Ernest Marks was the guest of Mr. G. E. Bolton Sunday.

Mr. Percy Ayres is visiting his aunt Mrs. Scruggs of Nelson.

A glorious meeting is being held in old Buckingham.

Dead.

Departed this life Wednesday July 3rd, Mrs. Annie May Milne, the wife of Rev. W. M. Milne of Tennesee. She was Annie May Thackston, daughter of Mr. and James Thackston of Prince Edward county. About eight years ago she was married to Rev. W. M. Milne and since that time they have made their home in Mississippi until a short time before her death they moved to Tenn. She was in ill health sometime before her death She leaves a husband and three children, Keith, James and Willie; father, mother, five brothers and one sister to mourn their loss. Mr. Milne has been a loving and devoted christian since her childhood, full of kindness and charity to others and was loved by all who knew her. A large concourse of friends followed her remains to the old family burying ground in Prince Edward county, attesting their love by their presence and the wealth of beautiful flowers that hid from sight the newly made grave.

To live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die. There is no death, the soul of this truly faithful woman, wife and mother has gone to it's reward.

Our tenderest feelings and deepest sympathy go out for the bereaved family.

re is a case of diptheria at me of Mr. C. M. Drinkard Na.tural Bridge, but none of them l are say can dispute the fact that he most congenial and jolliest party ever visited these grand sights was there July 15, 06. The above ntioned party I will decompose according to the fictations names adopted on our trip. Viz: Misses Cressy, Dignity, Squash, Allright, Fudge and Messrs Silly, Moses, Jolly, Calico and Huyler. Under the noble chaperonage of Grandma and Grandpa.

When the disseminated crowd awoke the morning of the occasion the prospect of a trip was very much darkened owing to the inclemency of the weather. The trip was at one time given up, but after due consideration of wise heads it is decision was withdrawn and the curtain of pleasure arose again and hasty preparations were made to catch the 8:30 train. Three of the couples were at the station in plenty of time, but the other two couples were delayed on account of primping and consequently came very near getting left. After we had gotten together, one of the party like a "silly" went into the station and we came very near leaving him, and I tell you if he had gotten left Miss Fudge would have been blue all day, well thanks to gravity he got back in time.

After getting on the train we succeeded in getting seats together and here may be considered the beginning of the most enjoyable excursion. We passed the time on the train by engaging in singing familiar hymns and the like, all of the occupants of the car seemed to enjoy it it very much, most of them joining in with us. Before going further I would like to make this statement: You know there are two parties who may go out on Sundays. One of which go out on excursions and disregard the Sabbath while the other party goes out on their ordinary train and they never forget one minute that it is the Sabbath and therefore all of their actions and doings are in accordance with its keeping. We therefore ask the reader of this to class us with the latter party.

After reaching our railway destination we found a four-seated conveyance waiting to conduct us to the world's greatest wonder. Our trip over the some two miles was a very pleasant one, the roads being macadamized. We reached the bridge with all colors flying ready to see the long desired wonder. Our time before dinner was limited so we didn't undertake to go under the bridge until after we had fed our faces. In tne mean while we went on the top of the bridge and afterwards to Lovers Leap where we could look for hundreds of feet below us and see the people passing below the structure. Those who have never been to the bridge can never appreciate its extreme beauty and magnificence. It is beyond the writers power to express it, all he can say is "go and see."

It is true the weather wasn't in our favor, neverless it didn't lessen the beauty of the scenes. We took kodac pictures of all the noted places so that we could have reminders of the happy occasion.

Now we come to the great dinner, it is not often you encounter such a feast as we had spread before us. The dinner was served in five courses, and you may rest assured that every one of us ate our fill. And besides the appeasible ingredients of the repast, we had music which made six courses. The latter was appreciated very much, the Orchestra rendered sacred music, among which was the "Holy City."

After dinner we made preparations to see the rest of the great sights. First we paired off and started down the path which led under the bridge and after getting under the structure we spent some time pondering over the magnificence of its formation. The first thing that came to the writers mind while looking around was the first message ever sent over wire, which is "What hath God wrought." This state ment is brought out very forcible in this natural structure of stone

One of our party wanted to carve his name above Washington's, but we wouldn't let him owing to the reverence we had for the Father of our Country. Another one of our party carried a dollar over the bridge, but didn't throw it over.

After going under one of the seven wonders" we followed up Cedar Creek to the Saltpeter Cave. This we found a very cool and refreshing spot. After viewing all the particulars of the cave we continued our travel up the creek to the noted "Lost River". This we found one of the most remarkable mysteries unsolved. The river is he rd and partially seen from a fine in the side of the mountain and from the tremendous roar of its waters it must be a good size stream. The last place we visited on the creek was Lace Falls, and this was very beautiful, one of our party said it resembled the Brace and Bit Falls which was exhibited at St. Louis. We took several pictures at the falls and then returned to the hotel where supper was waiting for us. The supper was in accordance with the dinner, being one of the best cooked and served meals we have ever eaten

It was now seven o'clock and our train left at seven forty nine so that being the case we had to go to the train via the same conveyance as that we came in. On reaching the station we had several minutes to spend in walking around and wishing we had just reached the 8:30 train. Three of the couples were at the station in plenty of time, but the other two couples were delayed on account of primping and consequently came very near getting left. Feel Impending Doom.

The feeling of impending doom in the minds of many victims of Bright's disease and diabetes has been changed to thankfulness by the benefit derived from taking Foley's Kidney Cure. It will cure incipient Bright's disease and diabetes and even in the worst cases gives comfort and relief. Slight disorders are cured in a few days.

"I had diabetes in its worst form," writes Marion Lee of Dunreath, Ind. "I tried eight physicians without relief. Only three bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure made me a well man."

Appomattox at Natural Bridge.

No doubt there have been parties upon parties who have visited the Natural Bridge, but none of them have say can dispute the fact that we are loyal to the Father of our Country. Another one of our party carried a dollar over the bridge, but didn't throw it over.

After going under one of the seven wonders" we followed up Cedar Creek to the Saltpeter Cave. This we found a very cool and refreshing spot. After viewing all the particulars of the cave we continued our travel up the creek to the noted "Lost River". This we found one of the most remarkable mysteries unsolved. The river is he rd and partially seen from a fine in the side of the mountain and from the tremendous roar of its waters it must be a good size stream. The last place we visited on the creek was Lace Falls, and this was very beautiful, one of our party said it resembled the Brace and Bit Falls which was exhibited at St. Louis. We took several pictures at the falls and then returned to the hotel where supper was waiting for us. The supper was in accordance with the dinner, being one of the best cooked and served meals we have ever eaten

It was now seven o'clock and our train left at seven forty nine so that being the case we had to go to the train via the same conveyance as that we came in. On reaching the station we had several minutes to spend in walking around and wishing we had just reached the 8:30 train. Three of the couples were at the station in plenty of time, but the other two couples were delayed on account of primping and consequently came very near getting left. After we had gotten together, one of the party like a "silly" went into the station and we came very near leaving him, and I tell you if he had gotten left Miss Fudge would have been blue all day, well thanks to gravity he got back in time.

After getting on the train we succeeded in getting seats together and here may be considered the beginning of the most enjoyable excursion. We passed the time on the train by engaging in singing familiar hymns and the like, all of the occupants of the car seemed to enjoy it it very much, most of them joining in with us. Before going further I would like to make this statement: You know there are two parties who may go out on Sundays. One of which go out on excursions and disregard the Sabbath while the other party goes out on their ordinary train and they never forget one minute that it is the Sabbath and therefore all of their actions and doings are in accordance with its keeping. We therefore ask the reader of this to class us with the latter party.

After reaching our railway destination we found a four-seated conveyance waiting to conduct us to the world's greatest wonder. Our with their presence.

Fraternally,

W. B. HILL, Adj't.

I hope our comrades of the Cavalry and horse artillery will take notice and avail themselves of this cordial invitation.
